French Plan May Force UN to Drop Iran Case

ACTION WOULD REFER MATTER TO SECRETARY

Council Official Says There May Be No Way To Keep Case Before It.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 16—The United Nations security council today postponed action on Russia's proposal for dropping the Russian-Iranian case and adjourned until tomorrow with three delegates demanding immediate consideration of Poland's charges against Franco Spain.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 16—France proposed a compromise solution of the new Russian crisis in the United Nations security council today and the secretary-general informed the council that there may be no way in which the council may keep the Iranian case before it.

Trygve Lie, secretary-general, gave his opinion to the council in a memorandum which was read after presentation of the French proposal to turn the matter over to the secretary general for a report.

Lie's memorandum was referred to the committee of experts for a report on it within two days.

Main Points Listed

The main points of Lie's memorandum were:

1. The council had made no finding that a dispute actually existed.

2. In view of this the only possible action was to order an investigation under the charter. This had not been done.

3. Iran has asked the council to drop the complaint.

Carrying out his intention announced late yesterday to make such a proposal, Henri Bonnet, the French delegate, handed in his resolution before the council convened this morning.

Bonnet proposed that the council take note of Iran's withdrawal of its case against Russia.

He also proposed that the council note the agreement reached between Iran and Russia by which Russia promised unconditionally to withdraw its soldiers from Iran before May 6.

Puts It Up To Lie

Then Bonnet moved that the council request Secretary General Lie to collect the necessary information on the case in order to make a report to the general assembly, which meets here next Sept. 8.

The time for the report was not specified in the resolution.

The controversy arose over Russia's fight to dismiss the Iranian case, during which the Soviet delegate had bluntly expressed "doubt" that the United States and Britain wanted a peaceful settlement.

The United States and British delegates contended that the case had been settled for the time being by the council's April 4 resolution to defer the Iranian case until May 6 and that it was only

GAMBLING CHARGED IN PORTAGE COUNTY

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 16—Gov. Frank J. Lausche, declaring that a "tremendous gambling racket" had developed at Brady Lake, Portage county, today called in the mayor and sheriff for an explanation.

He asked Mayor Joseph Cox of the resort village and Sheriff George Shield of Portage county to appear at his office at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Lausche will call their attention to "numerous complaints" which he said he had received; ask the officials if they have knowledge of gambling and inquire what stpes have been taken to stop it.

"Obviously," the governor told news men, "there has developed a tremendous gambling racket—bingo to lure the innocent and to entrap them with slot machines."

Lausche has been informed, he said, that 150 slot machines operate in the community; that bingo prizes run up to $1,500, and that special trains have been arranged to bring in customers from Cleve-

HOUSE WRECKED BY MOB. Spectators view damage to home in Butte, Mont., after a mob had smashed windows and doors, chopped out porch supports and then entered the house to smash the furnishings. Gangs of men, women and teen-age boys armed with axes roved the streets of the strike-bound copper mining community, wrecking windows and doors of private homes and throwing wrecked furniture into the yards. Two youths were wounded by gunfire and Governor Sam Ford disclosed he was considering asking the federal government for help to stop the riots. Associated Press Wirephoto.

MOB STREWS FURNITURE. Furnishings of the house at Meaderville, Mont., littered the yards after a gang bent on vandalism had completed its invasion of this building. The vandalism was directed mainly against miners who haven't joined a current strike, but union leaders denied any responsibility and appealed for order.

URGES TRUMAN TO BOOST OPA

Senator Says Presidential Assurances of Fair Action Would Save Agency.

(Picture of "housewives lobby" for OPA an Page 3)

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 16 — Senator Morse (R-Ore) said today assurances from President Truman of "fair and reasonable" OPA actions will be needed to save the price control agency in congress.

Morse told reporters he spoke as a friend of OPA who wants to continue "regulations necessary to the objectives of price control as a check against inflation." He added:

"It is perfectly obvious that the President must take a hand in this matter and give us some definite assurances that OPA is going to function in a fair and reasonable manner, in accordance with the facts rather than in accordance with some ideology of some subordinate official."

Will Do Trick

Given those assurances, Morse said, fighters of inflation "will be able to prevent emasculation of the OPA program."

The Oregon lawmaker spoke as the senate banking committee recalled Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles for further testimony on legislation to extend OPA year beyond June 30.

The house resumed debate on the bill after yesterday's opener produced such varied remarks as these:

By Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the banking committee: to lose control over prices would mean that "a disaster that is indescribable would come upon our people."

By Rep. Taber (R-NY): "OPA has done nothing but throttle production."

Lending a new tone to the situation was the presence of a "housewives' lobby" led by Mrs. Leon Henderson, wife of the former OPA chief, and Mrs. Ernest K.

Love's Grand, But Not Outdoors, Says Captain

By The Associated Press

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 16—Outdoor love making at the naval aid station here has been banned both for naval personnel and civilians.

In an order making it a disciplinary offense, Capt. Leslie E Cohres, station commandant, noted:

"There has been a steadily growing public display of affection commonly called 'necking,' on the part of some men and women.

"While everyone, including the captain, will generally agree that, under proper conditions, this is an absorbing and pleasurable pastime, it is not generally considered an outdoor daytime sport."

OPA EYES RAIL RATE INCREASE

Both Carriers and Workers Seek Boosts in Income; Want Wartime Level.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 16—The OPA hauled out its price charts today to determine what effect a requested 25 per cent boost in railroad freight rates would have on living costs.

Although an official of the agency emphasized it has no jurisdiction over rate matters, he told a reporter privately that OPA would intervene before the interstate commerce commission if its study shows the proposed increase might have "inflationary tendencies."

The Association of American Railroads asked the ICC yesterday to grant a general 25 per cent hike in freight rates effective May 15. The carriers at the same time also asked the commission to make permanent the 10 per cent higher passenger fares first ordered in 1942.

Passenger rates now are due to revert to their prewar level six months after the legal termination of hostilities.

Rail Workers Seek 14 Cents More

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 16—An additional wage increase of 14 cents an hour for more than one million railroad workers employed on 130 of the nation's carriers was asked yesterday in notices filed by 15 non-operating brotherhoods.

The 1,050,000 workers, together with about 200,000 members of three operating brotherhoods, were granted wage hikes of 16 cents an hour on April 3 by government arbitration boards. The new raise the 15 unions asked represents the difference between the original demand of 30 cents and the 16 cents awarded by the board which union spokesmen had termed "wholly inadequate."

The new proceedings do not involve the five operating brotherhoods. Two, the locomotive engineers and the trainmen, have their wage and rule case before a presi-

SENATOR RAPS ARMY IN BLAST AT DRAFT BILL

Johnson Cites "Stupidity" in Criticism of Bill Passed by House.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 16—Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) asserted today the war department is responsible for what he termed the "confused-and chaotic" draft extension bill passed by the house.

The legislation provides for a nine month extension of the draft law beyond May 15, but prohibits any inductions until Oct. 15. It also halts the drafting of teenage youths.

In a bristling letter to Secretary of War Patterson, the Colorado senator spoke of the war department's "blind and congenital stupidity" and said the department apparently had assumed "that members of congress are dummies and that they can be awed and influenced by a mass of distorted mathematics."

Johnson said the house measure would not provide replacements for fathers and combat veterans now in service. He urged the department to back his proposal for a six weeks extension to July 1.

Up to Senate

Johnson said the senate now must find a way out of the "muddle" created by the war department's "arrogant demand" for a year's extension of Selective Service.

"It never seemed to occur to these muddleheads that a six weeks extension could have been supported by them with honest calculations, and that all the jugglers in Kingdom Come could not and did not make a case for year's extension," Johnson declared.

The senate military committee previously had rejected Johnson's proposal for the six weeks' extension.

Johnson told Patterson the department ought to "admit its mistake" and ask congress for only a limited extension of the draft.

"The war department ought to make a mental note now of the thoroughly-demonstrated fact that it cannot fool congress all the time," he declared.

Johnson contended that a six weeks' extension would provide sufficient men by July 1 to replace all drafted fathers, combat veterans who desire to get out of the Army and all draftees with 12 months' service.

The bill approved by the senate committee would halt the future drafting of fathers and would limit the service of present and future inductees to 18 months.

"Cooling Off" Seen

A "cooling off" period in the senate appeared in store today for the chopped-up draft extension bill, along with its companion pay boost measure.

Senate leaders indicated an inclination to do nothing for at least

City Acts To Set Up Housing Authority To Aid Veterans

Council Takes Necessary Step as Preliminary To Establishing Quonset Buildings at Lincoln Park Camp.

Marion city council has turned to the Ohio state housing board for assistance in solving the city's veteran housing question.

Last night's council action was taken in connection with a recent city-Chamber of Commerce proposal to reopen the Lincoln park camp for veterans housing by erecting Quonset-type houses in the area. The council was faced with the problem of providing a responsible agency which could deal with all business matters arising from operation of the camp.

By unanimous vote the council adopted a resolution which will provide preliminary legal basis, upon approval of the state board, for setting up a Metropolitan Housing Authority for Marion county.

The resolution authorizes the mayor to make application to the state board of housing for a determination as to the need of a Metropolitan Housing Authority for Marion county, solely to provide housing relief for veterans and service men of World War II and their families. This is a preliminary legal step necessary before a housing authority can be set up.

Under the terms of the resolution, the state housing board will have complete authority to determine whether or not a need for veterans housing exists in Marion. Should the state board decide such a need exists, it will authorize the establishment of a Metropolitan Housing Authority for Marion. The authority will include a five man board and will be the responsible agency for establishing veterans housing. The local board will have full power to contract with the government for providing housing facilities for veterans and will determine the number of houses needed.

Manner of Appointment

Appointments to the Metropolitan board will be made as follows: two members appointed by the mayor, one member appointed by the common pleas judge, one by probate judge and one by the county commissioners.

Council's action on the new measure came after Mayor Harry L. Dowler reviewed the need for veterans housing in Marion and had told council members of the unfavorable response received to a former city-Chamber of Commerce proposal to set up trailers in the Lincoln Park camp site. The mayor also told the council of the very favorable response on a proposal to substitute Quonset-type houses for trailers.

In explaining the resolution Mayor Dowler pointed out that council was not asked to appropriate any funds for veterans housing. It was merely asked to authorize the state board to determine whether or not a veteran housing need existed. The resolution was based on the premise that there was a definite shortage in veterans housing, he said.

Appearing before council last night were officials of the Chamber of Commerce, who informed council members that the Chamber felt it should not get into the "housing business," and that the question of operating a veterans camp site, and collecting rent was Taft, Ellender Hope House Will Cut Wage Insurance from Measure.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 16—Two authors of the senate's long-range housing bill voiced hope today the house will strike out a "wage insurance" provision added to their measure under union demands.

Both Senators Taft (R-Ohio) and Ellender (D-La) agreed with Federal Housing Commissioner Raymond M. Foley that the amendment would slow FHA insurance of small homes.

"But I doubt that it will retard building for two or three years," Taft told reporters. "People are going to build homes with loans from banks or other sources. FHA will simply lose the business."

Ellender commented: "It is certainly going to retard the FHA program. I am very much disturbed."

Wagner In Support

Senator Wagner (D-NY), third sponsor of the bill designed to provide 15,000,000 new homes by 1956, was out of town. He supported in committee the wage clause which the senate wrote into the measure by a 51 to 20 vote shortly before passing it yesterday and sending it to the

GALION COAL FAMINE MAY BRING BLACKOUT

Special to The Star

GALION, April 16—By the end of the week, Galion industry will be curtailed as a result of the extended coal strike. This was reported today by Charles R. Geiger, director of the Galion Municipal Light & Power plant.

Mr. Geiger today had the promise of the coal administration that eight more cars of coal will be received. In view of the fact that it takes a car a day to run the city light and power plant, eight more days' supply will be added to the ten already on hand. Because o fneed to maintain the general health o fthe city necessity of light and water supply for City hospital, the city disposal plant, and for the general health requirements of the homes, the supply of fuel to manufacturers must be shut off soon, city officials have decided.

In his ultimatum, Geiger has appealed to all electric consumers to do everything in their power to conserve current in Galion. The appeal is made to homes, industry, schools and public institutions.

There is about 18 days' coal supply left at the light plant and no assurance of when more coal can be expected. Geiger said he has appealed for coal to the Solid Fuels Administration for War at Cincinnati.

The coal situation here is critical, Geiger emphasized, and it may be necessary to blackout the city as in war time, with street lights dimmed, signs, window displays and unnecessary power curtailed to meet the emergency.

Marshall To Fly To Peiping in Effort To Halt Fighting

By The Associated Press

General Marshall, recognizing the urgency of the Manchurian fighting, tomorrow will fly direct from Tokyo to Peiping, the Sino-American truce headquarters, again to throw his powerful influence into peace negotiations.

Marshall, President Truman's special envoy to China, cancelled an important conference with Chinese Premier T. V. Soong in Shanghai to go direct to the truce headquarters city.

There he will meet the impotent Sino-American committee of three which—with substitutes for all three original members—has not had authority to carry out its assigned mission of affecting a truce between battling Chinese Government and Communist forces. He effected both military and political truces last January, but neither was put into effect and shortly after he went to Washington for conferences, the situation worsened.

Says It's Civil War

Marshall's decision to fly to Peiping was made after the No. 2 Chinese Communist leader, Gen. Chou En-lai, called the fighting in Manchuria full scale civil war. Both Marshall and Chou were original members of the committee of three, along with Minister of War Chen Cheng, who is ill. Marshall conferred with MacArthur in Tokyo today.

There was a virtual news blackout-unexplained, but presumably

1942 Manchurian Mine Disaster Is Revealed

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, April 16—The world's worst mining disaster — an underground explosion which snuffed out 1,549 Chinese and Korean lives in the Honkeiko colliery in Manchuria—was reported for the first time today by allied headquarters—almost four years after it happened.

The accident occurred April 26, 1942, under Japanese occupation. It was kept secret by the military from even the Japanese government for a month.

SEEKS TO LIFT SUPPLIES OF MEAT, BUTTER

Wartime Controls Directed for Dairy Industry as Bowles Sees Hope.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 16—The government mapped a new attack on the snarled food situation today involving butter, bread, meat—and black markets.

Wartime controls were ordered slapped back in an effort to spur butter production and Stabilization Director Chester Bowles foresaw a "real improvement within the next 60 days," on this front.

The senate agriculture committee called for more details on factors dislocating meat distribution and OPA and the agriculture department moved to restore other wartime controls on slaughtering with the aim of spreading available supplies more evenly.

Hunt for "Stretcher"

A potential bread problem had members of the senate small business committee seeking ways of meeting famine relief quotas for overseas without imparing the nation's flour supplies. Baking industry spokesmen told the committee yesterday that if these supplies fall 25 per cent below last year government bread rationing or black markets in the food are probable.

The move for butter production was bracketed with OPA action to keep consumers bills at their present levels for milk, butter, cheese and other dairy products. A program of larger subsidies for dairy farmers was announced yesterday to compensate for higher feed and labor costs.

On butter, the OPA aimed at overcoming a situation which had made it more profitable to use butterfat for ice cream and other products than for butter. Accordingly, the wartime ban will be restored on the sale of whipping cream and restrictions will be placed on the amount of butterfat in ice cream. The program also includes price ceilings for the first time on cream used in bakery products and ice cream. Leonard E. Hurtz of Omaha, chairman of the Dairy Industry Committee, contended in a statement that the new program would lead to a decline in milk production "and continued shortages" of dairy products.

Packer Is Disgusted

The senate agriculture committee was plainly exercised about the meat situation which Packer James D. Cooney testified was "a national scandal which makes profiteering look like petty crime."

With the FBI ordered into action against one group of black marketeers, there were hopes of curbing some illegal transactions in meat, but opinions differed sharply whether the reimposition of slaughtering controls would achieve its aim of improving the general meat situation.

Price Administrator Paul A. Porter said the effect of the controls would be to "provide for better distribution of meat supplies at ceiling prices to retail stores." Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said it meant "in reality a share-the-livestock program."

The opposite view was taken by Cooney, vice president of Wilson & Co., one of the big four packers. He told the senate committee the new order "won't do any good."

The possibility of difficulties ahead for the country's bread supply was first raised yesterday by bakery industry spokesmen in connection with an earlier announcement by Secretary Anderson that a 25 per cent cut in their flour supplies will be ordered, if necessary to, meet famine relief quotas.

John T. McCarthy of Toledo, Ohio, president of the American Bakers association, predicted such an order would mean "black market and black market prices for bakery products." His view was echoed by other representatives of the industry.

The state department announced that three American Liberty ships are carrying grain from Russia to France and that 43 others will be available to transport the remainder of the 500,000 bushels which the Soviets have promised France.

One of the oddest sights to those who remember vividly the bitter enmity engendered by war is to see American and Italian soldiers riding around in trucks driven by German prisoners of war.

They are treated well but keep their place and I haven't seen any palsy-walsy relations between them and American troops. They get along together but they haven't chummed up.

DRAFT

a week about the two pieces of legislation passed yesterday by the house.

What they would do then was doubtful. But it seemed highly unlikely the senate would accept the Selective Service extender in anything like the house version—with its five-month "holiday" on inductions and a ban against drafting teen-agers.

One View Given

Chairman Elbert D. Thomas (D-Utah) of the senate military committee told reporters he thought "the sensible thing" would be to extend the draft law as is until July 1 of this year.

Thomas's committee has recommended a full one-year extension from May 15, and it has evidenced little sympathy with the house "holiday" plan.

Spokesmen for the war department, upset over the house action, said privately they are hopeful of salvaging the measure in the senate. Particularly disturbed by the ban on teen-age inductions, they claim the Army can't meet its manpower needs if that restriction stays in the bill.

Passed by a roll-call vote of 290 to 108, the house bill extends the draft law until next February 15 but prohibits any inductions between May 15 and October 15. After that date they may be resumed only by order of the President and on the condition that voluntary enlistments fail to meet Army and Navy needs.

Hope Pay Will Help

Advocates of the holiday plan argued for several days in the house that pay increases would provide more than enough enlistments.

By a vote of 164 to 13 the house passed a measure boosting the base pay of all Army, Navy, Coast Guard and Marine Corps personnel.

The increases range from 50 per cent for privates and apprentice seamen to 10 per cent for major generals and rear admirals.

No trouble for the pay-raise bill was expected in the senate.

To offset further any possible deficit in Army manpower, a new proposal — to create a United States Foreign Legion similar to that of France—was drafted by Rep. Case (R-SD).

Case's bill, sent to the house military committee and expected to gather dust there, calls for a Foreign Legion of 500,000 men to take over much of Uncle Sam's military work abroad.

Proposed Pay Boosts in Detail

The proposed pay increases for the armed forces follow:

For enlisted men, the measure carries the following monthly benefits in base pay:

Grade	Present Pay	New Pay
Privates, apprentice seamen	$ 50	$ 75
Pfcs., seamen 2/c	54	80
Corporals, seamen 1/c.	66	90
Sergeants, 3/c petty officers	78	100
Staff sergeants, 2/c petty officers	96	115
Tech. sergeants, 1/c petty officers	114	135
Master sergeant, chief petty officers	136	165

For officers, the bill makes these changes in annual base pay:

Rank	Present Pay	New Pay
Second lieutenants, ensigns	$1,800	$2,160
First lieutenants, lieutenants (j. g.)	2,000	2,400
Capts., lieutenants	2,400	2,640
Majors, lieutenant commanders	3,000	3,300
Lieut. colonels, commanders	3,500	3,850
Colonels, captians	4,000	4,400
Brig. generals, commodores and rear admirals (lower half)	6,000	6,600
Major generals, rear admirals (upper half)	8,000	8,800

Ranks above that of major general would not be affected. The measure includes men and officers of the army, navy, marine corps, coast guard and coast, geodetic survey and public health service.

ATLANTA—Margaret Mitchell, the "Gone With the Wind" author, has a brother who also has turned out a book, but he isn't hoping to rival Margaret's sales. You see, the book is called "Real Property—Under the Code of Georgia and the Georgia Decisions."

Stephens Mitchell, teaching a course in real property at a law school here, found it hard to handle Georgia law on real property. Most textbooks dealt with common law states, whereas Georgia law is embodied in the code. So he wrote his own textbook.

Berners Have A Reunion in Bern

By The Associated Press

BERN, Switzerland—The city councillors of Bern sat up and took notice recently when two Americans from Berne, Indiana, dropped in.

They were Elmer R. Nussbaum, electrician, and Sherwood Sprunger, a carpenter, both on furlough. Descendants of Indiana settlers, the visitors explained that Berne, Indiana, was founded about 1840 by immigrants from the Emmental area near Bern, Switzerland.

And to the surprise and delight of the city fathers, Nussbaum and Sprunger still spoke the local dialect, "Berndeutsch."

REHEARSAL CHANGED

Hitler's Desk Lies Forgotten in Rain

By The Associated Press

BERLIN—A scratched and battered desk lies in a shell crater in the heart of Berlin—just another piece of junk on a dump heap.

Heads of state once stood in front of that desk, trembling.

It is Adolf Hitler's desk, lying out in the rain, unnoticed. Souvenir hunters no longer show any interest in it, although there still is about eight feet of good wood that can be pried loose.

In only eleven months—since Berlin fell—this happened to the Fuehrer's most interesting possession.

The desk was dumped unceremoniously off the grounds of the Reichschancellery, a battered empty hulk of former grandeur that even the looting parties don't take much interest in any more. Russian guards have thrown the Reichschancellery open to all and sundry, though they still block the way to the ill-fated air raid bunker where Hitler is supposed to have ended his life with Eva Braun.

The guards think it is a little curious how everyone ignores that desk. Lying beside it is a big chunk of the huge red marble slab that once rested on it, a garish touch off gothic beauty. Two old and cracked vases that once flanked it lie there, too.

Proved oil reserves in the United States are estimated at 23 billion, 826 million barrels, an all-time high.

Quonsets Available

The resolution specifically states that the federal government has indicated Quonset-type houses would be made available to the city upon application by a responsible agency and that a Metropolitan Housing Authority would be in a practical position to make such application for the use of Quonset housing units.

Mayor Dowler said he would mail a certified copy of the resolution to the state housing board. The same procedure to relieve a veterans housing shortage was used by Cleveland, Columbus, and Toledo.

Offer of the Quonset buildings was made by city-Chamber of Commerce officials after E. J. Trotham, area engineer for the Dinner Marks Anniversary of O. E. S. Chapter

A DINNER in observance of the 48th anniversary of the organization of Lyrla Chapter No. 64, Order of the Eastern Star, preceded a regular meeting of the members with eight at the Masonic temple. Gerhart, a past patron, and a past grand patron of the Grand Chapter of Ohio, and Mrs. Zoe Hill of Columbus, grand representative of North Dakota, were presented. Mrs. Mary Lyons, worthy matron of Vera chapter, Caledonia, entertained with a group of whistling selections, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ethel Case.

Plans were made for a chop suey dinner to be held April 30, the proceeds to be given to the Chinese Flue Bowl, a grand chapter project.

JAMS AND JELLIES UP

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 16—OPA today granted a price increase to the makers of jams, jellies, apple butter and fruit preserves to cover a half cent a pound rise in sugar prices authorized Feb. 10. Retail prices may go up slightly as a result, OPA said. The one-pound jar of jam or jelly, for instance, may go up about one cent.

Federal public housing administrator in Cleveland told local officials that 25 of the Quonset buildings would be available to Marion. Since that time, applications for the units have been flooding the office of Mrs. Elsie Young, in charge of the veteran's information center in the Star building. To date she has received more than 215 applications, and nearly half of these are from veterans with families, she reports.

Former Kenton C. of C. Heads Quits at Toledo

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., April 16—Stanley Grove resigned today as executive manager of the Toledo Chamber of Commerce to accept a post as executive secretary-manager of the San Diego, Calif., Chamber effective July 1.

ordinance. Action there may be delayed several months.

The provision requires that the prevailing wages or "scale" of the locality must be paid on any work carried out under the housing legislation.

Taft said in the senate debate the intention was to require payment of union scales. He argued that small homes could be built in smaller communities at much lower cost if the provision were left out.

Before the vote, Ellender read a letter from Foley saying the provision would "seriously curtail if not completely destroy the insurance of mortgages on one to four-family dwellings."

Sees Showdown

Foley asserted that banks would hesitate to lend money under an FHA mortgage contingent upon the contractor's paying the prevailing wage.

Both the AFL and the CIO plugged for the wage provision.

The housing legislation broadens FHA's mortgage insurance authority and includes continued federal aid for public housing, help for cities to redevelop run-down areas, and a farm home loan program.

Meanwhile the house held firm on its original stand and refused to accept a $600,000,000 subsidy fund written into an emergency housing bill by the senate.

The action means that a senate-house conference committee will have to work out a compromise on the disputed point before the measure can be sent to President Truman. It is aimed at providing 2,700,000 new homes by the end of next years.

Mackenzie Urges Doom of India's Countless Rulers

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Visibility is restricted here in New York because of the smoke from the big guns of the UN security council battle, but while we are waiting for the clouds to lift over this unprofitable clash there is another development which we shouldn't overlook in connection with the negotiations between England and India regarding Indian independence.

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, who next to Mahatma Gandhi is the greatest figure in the dominant All-India congress, has served warning that the hundreds of rulers of the small Indian states must lose their golden thrones. This statement is of vast importance, coming as it does in the midst of the parleys over Indian sovereignty. The question of how to deal with the principalities is one of the great problems to be solved.

DewittMackenzie

Nehru speaks with authority—a point to which your attention is especially directed, because he is a man worth watching. What he believes in this matter is believed by the Mahatma and the All-India congress as a whole. I know from personal study in India that a similar view is held by many Moslems who are political opponents of the All-India congress, and by highly placed Britons as well.

Trend Is Seen

Thus we have an indication of the trend in handling this crucial matter. The likelihood is that if success crowns the current conferences on Indian liberty, the agreement will provide for the elimination of the great majority of the some 600 potentates who have autocratic authority over about 90,000,000 subjects.

The Pandit says that the maharajahs of the major Indian states can well continue their rule during the life of the provision federal government until their future is decided by their people. But the rulers of the small states, many of which are merely glorified estates containing perhaps a couple of hundred people, will be pensioned off.

Fair enough! I know from my studies in India that impartial observers agree with Nehru's statement. These small "princes" and some of the big fellows as well—offer great barriers to Indian unity and progress. There's only one thing to do: that is to get rid of them and incorporate their lands and people in a federal government which will include the whole vast sub-continent of India.

Some May Stay

There is a fair number of the major rulers who are progressive and may well be continued on their thrones, if the people so will it.

For the most part these princes, big and small, are bejeweled anarchronisms who are a survival of centuries long dead.

They rule from thrones which they acquired by succession and through no achievement of their own. Their wealth is so vast that they don't know its extent. Yet many of their people are forever hungry — and I mean that literally—because their taxes are brutally exorbitant. These princes in many instances have the power of life and death over their subjects.

PRE-SCHOOL CLINIC PLANNED IN MARION

Week of May 13 Set as Time for Examinations.

Preparations are being made for a pre-school clinic to be held at all elementary schools in Marion the week of May 13, Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, has announced.

Under the program, all children who will enter city schools next year will be eligible for a complete physical examination free of charge. Local doctors, dentists and nurses are cooperating in the plan.

Organizations working with the city board of health in the drive are the Parent-Teacher association, the Marion Academy of Medicine, the Marion Co. Dental Society and the Seventh District Nurses' Association.

Representatives of the P.-T. A. will work with school authorities in an effort to contact parents of all children eligible for examination.

The drive this year will be the first since 1943. Formerly an annual program, it was suspended during the war due to the lack of medical personnel.

DRIVER FINED $10

Harry G. Musser of 122 South State street paid $10 and costs in municipal court Tuesday when he pleaded guilty to charges of reckless driving. He was arrested by the highway patrol on route 23 north of Marion Monday at 8:15 p. m. and was released on $25 bond prior to hearing.

WALKING WARDROBE. John Hurt, 76, listed by police as an itinerant, but who says he lives in Hinton, W. Va., stands beside a pile of clothing he took off in the Danville, Ill., police station April 13, 1946. When police ordered him to strip for a routine investigation, he removed: 10 pair of pants and overalls, 10 coats and jackets, 10 shirts and four caps.

Health Week Program Presented at School

A program on health week and the Easter theme was given Friday night at a meeting of the Campbell school community club, all grades taking part. In line with the health idea, D. T. Mills, county superintendent of schools, spoke and motion pictures on health were shown by Justin Parsell. It was reported that $99 was cleared from two community fox hunts held recently when 12 animals were killed.

Basketball equipment for the school playground is being installed. The program by the children included group singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," salute to the Flag," Easter story Bible reading by Margery Roth, Beatitudes given by the group followed by the Lord's prayer, and an Easter song by all. The toy band of the first three grades played, led by Richard Bentley and a piano duet was by Margie and Julie Parsell. A novelty song was presented by the upper grades preceding the talk by Mr. Mills, and the pictures. The next meeting will be a picnic May 10, with Mrs. Ralph Bentley, Mrs. John P. Roth and Mrs. Justin Parsell as the committee in charge.

Celina Firm Low Bidder on 3½-Mile Job.

Marion county commissioners yesterday awarded a contract for deepening and widening the Bee Run ditch in Scott and Claridon townships.

The 3½-mile project was let to E. D. Drumm and Sons, general contractors, Celina, on their bid of $23,700, approximately $1,800 less than the estimate.

Work on the ditch is expected to start about June 1. Original petition for the project was filed by H. J. Brooks of Kirkpatrick.

Egyptian Ruins Held Home of Ancient God

CAIRO, April 16—A square-shaped well which some archeologists believe was the home of the sacred crocodile or fish in the days of the Pharaohs 3,000 or more years ago has been unearthed beside the ruins of the temple of Tanis in the Nile delta northeast of here.

(The crocodile was one of the gods of the ancient Egyptians, who even had a city and temple sacred to it near the site of present-day Fayum. The crocodile god was called Soukou.)

225,000 TO SEE "REAL" BIG LEAGUES LAUNCH SEASON TODA

Gloomy Weatherman Fails To Cool Off Post-War Fans

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 16—Baseball goes big league again today as the 1946 season opens a eight cities before an estimated 225,000 fans, eager to see the real stuff instead of the synthetic variety played of late.

Although the weatherman forecasts cool, cloudy weather in most of the parks, the turnstiles are due to whirl their merriest time since the all-time first day high of 149,815 in 1931.

Detroit will top the bill with a turnout of 55,000 fans at Briggs stadium to watch the defending world champion Tigers wrestle with the St. Louis Browns.

Only Four Back

Only four members of Manager Steve O'Neill's 1945 World Series club will be in the starting line-up and one of them, Eddie Mayo, has been released, will be on the bench to replace Newsom. Hank Greenberg, recuperated after a long absence, should balance Eddie Mayo and Outfielder Pete Richards are the others.

Skipper Luke Sewell of the Browns says Sportsman Vern Stephens, who double-crossed from St. Louis to Mexico and back, will not be in the starting lineup because of a sore arm. Third baseman Bob Dillinger and first sacker Chuck Stevens are the only Brownie rookies although they will welcome home three ex-GI's who were not with the club in 1945.

The Chicago Cubs will start with their National league pennant-winning order, with the exception of right field where rookie Mary Rickert will supplant Bill Nicholson as the Bruins open in Cincinnati.

Truman to Hurl

President Truman will throw out the first ball at Washington where 29,000 will see the Senators square off against the Boston Red Sox. Next to the President, Ted Williams of Boston will be the greatest attraction. Ted Hughson of the Sox will oppose Roger Wolff on the hill.

Philadelphia will get first look at the post-war New York Yankees with Joe DiMaggio, Phil Rizzuto, Tommy Henrich and Bill Dickey heading the cast against the A's. The Mackmen have nominated Russ Christopher to go against Spud Chandler with 20,000 customers expected. Charley Keller and Joe Gordon will miss the 1st because of slight injuries.

Ralph Robert Feller, who turned a no-hitter against Chicago just six years ago to the opener, will try to do it again as the Cleveland Tribe takes on the White Sox before 32,000 at Comiskey park. Spud Dietrich will oppose for the Hose.

Eddie Dyer makes his bow as a big league manager at home as St. Louis where the Cardinals rode on favorites in the National league with Pittsburgh. Dyer will send Johnny Beazley, apparently recovered from his sore arm miseries, to the mound to duel with Lefty Preacher Ostermueller. A turnout of 18,000 is expected.

Giants vs. Phillies

New York is slated to contribute 44,000 to the opening turnout to watch Mel Ott's slugging Giants test the rejuvenated Phillies. Manager Mel Ott has tabbed Bill Voiselle to go the honors for the home forces against Jeffy Casey Jodd. It will be Boss Ben Chapman's first chance to test his new theory on stopping National league power with southpaw pitching.

Brooklyn will open in Boston where Billy Southworth will be making his first appearance. The management thinks 18,000 will come out to watch Rookie Johnny Sain try his tricks against either Hal Gregg or Kirby Higbe.

FELLER FAVORED AS TRIBE FACES CLIMAX

"No Hit" Bob To Meet "No Hit" Bill Dietrich.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 16—Two "no-hit" pitchers—Bob Feller and Bill Dietrich—toe the rubber today as the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox pry the lid off the first post World War II baseball season before an expected 18,000 fans at Comiskey park.

Fireballer Feller is celebrating today the sixth anniversary of his opening-day no-hit mastery of the Chisox here April 16, 1940, while the unprecedented Dietrich hurled a no-hit game in defeating the St. Louis Browns 2 to 0 in 1931.

Youth will speak with fervor today as the Indians' season begins but fight to regain the premier major league stroke-out crown.

The Tribe and Sox will present drastically revised lineups to 1946 fandom in today's opening tilt. Manager Lou Boudreau of the Indians is the only Redbird who appeared as a regular on opening day of 1945, while Mike Tresh and Wally Moses are the only Chicago repeaters.

Ken Keltner, stellar third baseman recently discharged from the Navy, reported he had recovered sufficiently from a back ailment to start today's contest for the Indians.

Manager Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox will be hospitalized for two more weeks with a stomach ailment and Coach Mule Haas will direct Chicago during Jimmy's absence.

At least one new major league mark will be set at Frank (Ironman) Hayes of the Indians don mask and glove today for his 849th consecutive appearance behind the plate.

Wrestling Schedule Offers Rough Bouts

The wrestling card at the Armory Thursday offers two rough bouts. Both are 90 minute two out of three fall frays.

Monty LaDue vs Indio Yaqui is booked for one and Lefty Parer vs Rufus Jones is the second. Parer is a recently discharged Navy veteran from Toledo who wrestled here before entering service. Rufus Jones is a colored wrestler from New York who has appeared in Marion several times.

A 10 minute tag team bout between four Marion boys is carded as the preliminary. The team of Robert Lowry and Sammy DeLong will take on Sonny Simons and Leon Eckles.

Weatherman Cancels Harding High Openers

Harding High school's baseball and track season openers, both scheduled for yesterday, were postponed because of rain. Officials have not yet set a date for these events.

The diamond crew were set to open against New Bloomington yesterday at Lincoln Park while the track crew planned a trip to Galion for a practice meet.

A date will be set in the near future, school officials said.

INDIANAPOLIS DOPED AS FAVORITE IN A.A.

Louisville Almost Equally High in Forecasts.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 16 — Sports writers today put the finger on Indianapolis and Louisville as favorites to win the 1946 American Association pennant as the eight clubs prepared to open the loop's 45th season tomorrow before more than 50,000 fans.

The annual poll of members of the American Association chapter of the baseball writers gave the Indians and the colonels 136 points each on a basis of eight points for each first place ballot, seven for second, etc., down to one for eighth.

The power-laden Hoosiers were given at least a technical edge, however, by Secretary Frank M. Colley since they received nine votes for first place as against only two for Louisville. Milwaukee, pennant winner for the last three years, was marked for fifth.

That the sports writers are a bit confused, however, by the tremendous turnover in playing talent was indicated by the fact every club except St. Paul, Toledo and Minneapolis received first place votes and Indianapolis, Kansas City, Columbus and Milwaukee had one or more votes for every spot in the standing.

The writers named Kansas City, Columbus, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Toledo and Minneapolis to trail Indianapolis and Louisville to the finish wire in that order.

TWO CARDINAL STARS LIFT BRAVES' HOPES

Ray Sanders, Surkont in Deal; Columbus Gets Nelson.

By The Associated Press

Boston, April 16 — Fans of this baseball town looked today with the news that the club had purchased graceful Ray Sanders, St. Louis Cardinal regular first baseman for the past four seasons, and Matthew (Max) Surkont, a rugged right handed pitcher from the same club.

The Braves gave up their part of the deal, first of many likely in this first postwar season, a "substantial amount of cash" and infielder Tommy Nelson.

Nelson, who only appeared in 40 of the Braves' games last season, will be assigned to Columbus, the Red Birds' farm in the American Association.

Commenting on the new, and also old manager, Billy Southworth, as "one of the best clutch hitters in the business," Sanders may give the Braves the needed power to gain them a first division berth.

The deal was completed just before midnight last night.

Sanders played on three Cardinal championship teams and in three World Series. While at Columbus he starred in two Little World Series.

Surkont, 28, is recently out of the Coast Guard after four years service. He pitched for Rochester, a Cardinal farm, in 1941 and 1942.

Schmeling Predicts Louis To Kayo Conn

Ex-Champ, All Snarled Up in Nazi and Cowardice Charges, Sees Billy's Doom.

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
AP Sports Writer

HAMBURG — Max Schmeling, the only fighter to knock out Joe Louis, predicts that the Brown Bomber will kayo Billy Conn in less than ten rounds in their world championship bout in June.

"I saw Conn fight Apostoli in 1939," says 40-year-old Schmeling. "He's fast and clever but not a hard hitter. I think the fight will be over in less than ten rounds. Louis will take a few hits to get in his knockout punch—but he will land it eventually just like he did in the thirteenth round when he last fought Conn. A heavy hitter still has the best chance in the ring."

Once Reported Dead

Schmeling chilled Louis to win a non-title bout in 1936, then in a rematch two years later was smashed to the canvas by Louis in the first round. He returned to Germany and not much was heard of him until an announcement by a German news agency that he had been killed parachuting into Crete. In fact he only injured his leg and eventually was discharged from the service.

Having been refused a license to enter the book publishing business by British authorities, Schmeling now is considering a ring comeback. He decided his first step was to prove he had no connections with Nazism during the war and dislike of the Hitler regime was his clear political attitude.

He presented authorities with a large file of letters attempting to prove among other things that he was not an idol of Nazi youth during the war—a charge made by the British when they refused him a license to publish books for the reeducation of German youth.

MAX SCHMELING
Seen In His Better Days

Labelled As Coward

Among the letters is one from an actor friend, Veit Harlan, who attested he attended a speech by Goebbels in 1943 during which the minister of propaganda said:

"We have got news of the great theater-hero Max Schmeling. He has on Crete turned out to be a most lamentable coward. It is true he jumped off with the other men but after his jump he kept back from all fighting actions under pretext of being wounded, although the English committed a fearful massacre among his comrades. We know from eye-witnesses that Schmeling kept hidden under a large rock and regarded from there how his comrades were slaughtered without joining in the struggle himself. Later he went with his slight wound to a hospital. I regret that Schmeling has received the iron cross first class."

Schmeling says his name has been cleared by a German denazification panel and that his file has now been forwarded for final acceptance to British officials at Rhine Army headquarters. If they approve, Schmeling plans to go into training to fight 38-year-old Walter Neusel for the German championship.

Schmeling knocked out Neusel in 1934 to win the German title.

"My knee is all right now," says the graying Schmeling, "and I could get into good condition in a matter of weeks. I didn't think I would fight again. But that's about all there is left for me to do."

SCHOOL GROUP HEARS PRE-EASTER SERMON

Rev. Eldred Johnston on Girl Reserve, Hi-Y Program.

In the third of a series of annual pre-Easter services, Rev. Eldred Johnston, pastor of Central Christian church, spoke this morning to 285 High school students and faculty members assembled in the church.

The service, sponsored by the Girl Reserve and Hi-Y clubs of Harding High school, was opened with a call to worship by Jack Hoffman. Ann LaMarche led in prayer and Jack Gooding read the Scripture lesson.

In his address, "Heartbreak Hill," Rev. Johnston said the crucifixion of Christ shows us the world is full of sin, gives us an object upon which to focus our loyalty, proves the power of a man wholly devoted to God, and assures us of the possibility of conquering evil in this world.

To talk tough in the face of evil seems to be the present day trend, but the Cross has shown the fallacy of this policy, the Central Christian pastor said, adding that while some believe that education, science, or philosophy can produce the needed change in the hearts of men, religion, is necessary before such transformation can take place.

"Calvary was the heartbreak hill of Christ, "and the world needs more Calvarys in everyday life, more men who are willing to die for their beliefs," Rev. Johnston declared.

Students in charge of today's service were Ann LaMarche, Jack Gooding and Ronald Holloway who gave the benediction. Mrs. Virgil Curl was the organist.

White Collar Men OK Westinghouse Offer

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, April 16 — Unionized "white collar" employes of the Westinghouse Electric Corp. today accepted a 17½ cent hourly wage increase in a contract signed by the Federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried Unions, representing nearly 20,000 members in 19 affiliates.

The federation had balked at accepting the raise until contract clauses which it termed "objectionable" were straightened out. They pertained to a no-strike provision, seniority and wage payment of union representatives during negotiations.

The company and the CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, renewed "exploratory" discussions in an effort to find a basis of settling the 92-day-old strike of 75,000 production workers.

The discussions were being centered on wage increase possibilities for 10,000 lamp division workers not included in the company's recent wage boost offer rejected by the union.

BUCYRUS FOUNDRY WORKERS RETURN

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 16—Full production was resumed at the Crawford Steel Foundry Monday after almost three months strike enforced closing. Workers returned in response to an announcement by the union that the strike had been called off. A total of 190 workers reported for work Monday morning.

In a back to work movement March 20, 132 employes entered the plant remaining inside the building for a week despite union and picket activity. Since that time the shop has operated at a percentage of full production with workers remaining on duty at all time while others were permitted to go through the gates to return to their homes.

Under terms of an agreement announced Saturday, those workers who held out until the strike was called off will return to their jobs under the same terms as were in effect when the strike was called except the maintainance of membership and checkoff of union dues, pending determination of a bargaining agency election. The company's contract with the CIO expired since the strike was called.

STOCK LEADERS GAIN UP TO TWO POINTS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 16—Selected industrials paced an upturn in the stock market today that added fractions to around 2 points to a number of leading issues.

Most of the steels, motors, rubbers and metals registered early advances.

Gains were well maintained near the fourth hour.

Appearance of several favorable earnings and dividend announcements provided support for buying sentiment. Some reinstatement of accounts also resulted, brokers said, from progress of housing legislation, expectations of rail freight rate adjustments and anticipation of limitations on price control authority. Customers took cognizance of the maintaining of steel operating rates and predictions that sharp reductions may not be required until the last of April.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

FROM his wheel chair Dicky frowned at the nuance of irritation in Junior's voice—he has always been meticulous in his insistence upon courtesy to me from the boys and, in spite of his occasional flashes of temper, sets them a marvelous example of deferential courtesy to me.

But I was glad that his vocal reproof was mild. I wanted no more temperamental complications before the luncheon.

"Don't you think, Son," he asked, "that a little less belligerence might be advisable? After all, your mother doesn't usually interfere with your taste in neckties, and, also, today the necktie is only a pretense for getting you over here. We have something to tell you."

Junior flushed, and promptly uttered an emphatic: "Sorry, Mums. I didn't mean to be rude." But his eyes were not resentful. Instead, they were avid with excited interest, and he added a quick inquiry before I could acknowledge his apology.

"What's cooking now?" he asked.

"Your mother will tell you," Dicky said, and once more I told the story of Olga's plan to announce her betrothal to Georges at the luncheon, with the heirloom betrothal ring of the kings of Trees gleaming from her finger.

Swift Realization

It seemed to my weary mind that I had retold the tale a hundred times at least. But Junior's swift realization of the real problem facing us, as well as his boyish excitement, repaid me for the task.

"Oh! Oh!" he commented. "What a mess that will be for Mary! Noel will go bats and start smashing the china. And Rod—"

He broke off suddenly, and looked anxiously at me.

"You didn't put Rod wise, did you?" he asked.

"No, indeed," I answered. "We don't want Roderick to know a single word about it before the luncheon. Then he won't have time to brood over it. He'll be surprised, as we all are supposed to be—as we would be, if Aunt Olga hadn't warned me."

"Good scout, Aunt Olga!" he approved, as casually as if the former queen of Transvania had been a school girl of his own age. But I suppressed a smile, although I guessed that Dicky, in the background, was grinning broadly, and hastily assented.

"Yes, she is," I said, "and now you know why I sent for you. Incidentally, when you go back, tell Roderick that you had tied your craft so well that I did not ask you to change it."

"That will be a help," Junior commented, adding a bit tartly: "He threw his weight around plenty when he was delivering your message."

Avoided Comment

I carefully avoided comment on that, and instead hastened into the reason for his summons.

"I'm going to ask Aunt Olga to seat you next to Roderick," I said, "and to put your father on his other side. With both of you on the watch, you'll probably be able to handle Roderick if he gets too angry."

"I'll do my best," he said doubtfully. "Any suggestions?"

"Not a single one," I told him sadly, and turned to his father.

"Have you any counsel to give him?" I asked.

"Only to keep your eyes and ears open, Son, the same as the rest of us will have to do," Dicky said. "And watch me. I may be able to give you a signal of some sort."

"I'll do that, and thank you," Junior said gratefully. "Now I suppose I'd better be getting back. When do you want us over here?"

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDENSEN, M.D.

Small Boils

Since the time of Job, and doubtless before, mankind has rated boils as among its most painful afflictions. Poor Job scraped himself with a potsherd and cursed the day he was born. The modern man fortunately, has other and better resources against this skin infection, which is known to doctors as furunculosis.

The parts of the skin most often attacked by boils are the back of the neck within the hair margin, the sweat and fat glands in the armpits, the buttocks and the forearms. Infections which penetrate deeply into the skin are called carbuncles.

Location and Severity

The treatment of furunculosis will depend on the location and severity of the infection. In the case of small boils which develop in the back of the neck, Dr. S. Watson Smith of England, suggests that the area which is affected be washed twice a day with soap and water, followed by the application of a sulphur lotion without putting any gauze covering over the area.

As soon as the boils soften he advises they be opened using a pointed match stick dipped in a mild tincture of iodine.

When many small boils develop in other parts of the body, Dr. Smith advises covering them with gentian violet morning and night for a week. After the boils are opened, he advises that a magnesium sulfate paste spread on gauze be applied and changed every four hours.

Cover Carbuncles

In the case of carbuncles he does not believe that they should be cut open. He thinks the best treatment is to cover them also with a magnesium sulfate paste and to give injections into a muscle of penicillin. A penicillin preparation instead of the magnesium sulfate paste may be applied liberally to the carbuncle.

The logic of this is plain when it is understood that in most instances boils are caused by staphylococcus germs, which are among those most readily attacked by penicillin.

Boils or carbuncles may be dangerous. Hence, it is suggested by Dr. Smith that the patient be kept at rest in bed; that he be given a good diet and preparations containing vitamins such as yeast.

Sometimes, vaccine made from staphylococcus germs may be helpful in preventing attacks of boils. One of the sulfonamide drugs, such as sulfathiazole may also be administered. He does not believe that a sulfonamide ointment should be used on boils.

After recovery from an attack of boils has occurred, it may be a good idea to give the patient some iron-containing preparation to overcome any anemia or lessening of the coloring matter in the blood which has developed.

A-BOMB TEST COST DEFENDED

Task Force Chief Declares Estimates Too High, Says Trials Essential.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 16—The atom bomb task force believes the cost of the Bikini experiments will be no greater than that for "one large new ship"—which could be about $110,000,000, the current price of a super-battleship.

Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, commander for the joint Army-Navy operations, said "the uninformed" had estimated the tests would cost $423,000,000 for target ships and another $100,000,000 for other expenses.

"Such figures are gross exaggerations," the admiral asserted in a statement.

Gives Other Theories

Blandy also made these other observations:

1—The tests are no threat to other nations and no "martial gesture." They are a defensive measure of "caution and economy, not aggression."

2—The postwar armed forces "will be definitely and markedly affected by the implications of the atomic bomb. For the next several years study, experiment, invention, development and training should point the way toward the best kind of armed forces to build in case atomic weapons are not outlawed."

3—Although the projected third test, where the bomb is to be exploded several thousands feet down in the open sea, "is commonly believed to be the most important, it is by no means certain that it will prove so." The second test, with the bomb exploded in the shallow waters of Bikini lagoon or just at the surface, "may readily turn out to be more lethal in its combined effects upon ship and crew—especially since this attack can be made either at sea or in port, and the bomb can be quickly brought to the desired exploding position, that is on the surface or slightly below it."

4—Prompt information is necessary. Scientists say any reasonably industrialized nation can produce the A-bomb in a few years, but it is not expected a positive guarantee against the use of the weapon can be accomplished except through a step-by-step process over an indefinite period. Pending such guarantee, it is essential that our designers, strategists and others learn as much as possible now about the use of the weapon.

SCHOOL GRADING SYSTEM STUDIED

Mills Meets with Superintendents at Martel.

Marion county school superintendents, at a meeting in the home of Dale Porter, superintendent at Martel, last night discussed a proposal of the county educational committee to revise the school grading system, and after giving verbal approval to the plan, referred it back to the educational committee for further study and "refinement."

County School Supt. D. T. Mills, said the educational committee now would work out details of the new grading program with the hope that it could be put into operation next fall.

The revised system, school officials believe, would better define a grade and better interpret a pupil's progress in relation to other students in his class and to other students in the county.

The plan would call for new report cards, with equal emphasis placed on scholarship, application, preparation, progress, attendance and citizenship qualities. To be an "A" student, a boy or girl would have to meet the requirements in all the divisions, Mr. Mills explained, and added that the new grading system would be "qualitative rather than quantitative."

BARE RECORDS IN CLINE CASE

Death Certificates of Two Women Filed as State Probes Mystery.

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16 — Death certificates of two women and the personal effects of a third were in evidence today as prosecutors endeavored to throw more light on the mysterious career of Alfred Leonard Cline, on trial for forgery and grand theft.

The slipper, 56-year-old Cline, who looks more like a choir-leader than an ex-convict—he is both—is charged with forgery and grand theft involving the estates of the late Mrs. Eva Delora Krebs of Chicago, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hunt Lewis Cline of Oakland, Calif., two of his former wives.

Assistant District Attorney Norman Elkington yesterday introduced a death certificate for Elizabeth Hannah Klein dated May 5, 1943, in Jacksonville, Fla. The second certificate was for Eva Delora Cline, dated Nov. 22, 1945, in Portland, Ore.

The prosecutor contends the woman who died in Portland as Eva Delora Cline was actually Miss Isabel Van Natta of San Francisco.

The state is trying to prove Mrs. Eva Delora Cline actually died about a year earlier, in Dallas, and was cremated under the name of Mrs. Alice Carpenter, and that Cline later forged her name on affidavits involving her $103,000 estate.

Witnesses have identified pictures of the woman who died in Dallas as being Mrs. Delora Krebs Cline.

The prosecution is trying to prove Cline forged the name of Mrs. Elizabeth Hunt Lewis Cline by establishing the fact that the woman who actually died in Florida as Elizabeth Hannah Klein was Mrs. Elizabeth Hunt Lewis Cline.

At Columbus, O., a common pleas court was told that Cline, sole heir to the estate of Eva Delora Cline, has forfeited all rights to the property.

The court awarded the estate to Mrs. Cline's 24 other heirs after approving an agreement they said they made with Cline wherein he disclaimed his rights to the inheritance.

20,000 JOIN RADIO PREACHER IN FIGHT

By The Associated Press

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 16—An estimated by police at persons thronged five [illegible] this city's main thoroughfare Sunday in response to a [illegible] by a non-denominational preacher, objecting to certain [illegible] of paid religious programs over radio station WNOX.

J. Harold Smith, rejected the station's offer of free time on the air because "contributed time is controlled time," summoned his followers in broadcasts last week to rally to his support. They came from Kentucky, Georgia, Virginia, the Carolinas and East Tennessee.

W. B. Westergaard, WNOX manager, said that instead of selling time for religious broadcasts the station was "offering free time to all churches, all denominations and all preachers on an equal rotating basis."

Smith had six programs weekly on the station. They totaled approximately four hours. He said he had been "preaching the gospel" over the station for four years.

Before placing the ban, Westergaard said he conferred with Smith and other "radio evangelists" and offered them "a reasonable amount of free time, but they rejected it flatly."

From the radio station the ban marched to the News-Sentinel, afternoon newspaper, which editorially supported the station in its ban on paid religious broadcasts. The station and newspaper are owned by the Scripps-Howard chain.

The newspaper said editorially that what really aroused the "radio religionist" was that there no longer would be "justification for appeals for financial donations from the radio audience."

Old Ledger Found in Bennet Building

Workmen razing the old Bennett Building on West Center street yesterday uncovered an American Express Company ledger dating back to April, 1897. The ledger, about a foot long, eight inches wide and two inches thick had been placed at the base of a concrete pillar built to re-inforce the floor when a vault was constructed in the building.

It contains a record of waybills passing and entries are written with violet ink which has faded into illegibility. The only name still readable is that of J. P. Gump, agent. His name and the Words Marion Ohio, had been stamped on each page.

Farmers Welcome Rain as Boon To Wheat and Other Crops

Farmers in the Marion county area welcomed yesterday's rain as an aid to thirsty wheat, hay, and oats crops, new seedings and pastures. More rain is needed, however, as precipitation so far this spring is below normal.

Farm leaders expressed the belief that a good rain would be worth thousands of dollars to local farmers. Wheat fields and newly planted oats crops need rain badly, farmers say, as well as new seedings, meadows and pastures.

The season has been unusually dry this year. Local streams are reported to be at a low level, and in many places fields are cracked and dry. County Agent Arthur H. Smith said he had received no reports of wells going dry, and he felt that most farmers had a good supply of water, due to the heavy rains last fall.

Nearly all of the county's oats fields are now planted and farmers are busy plowing for corn and soybeans. AAA officials are now tabulating the total acreage and expect to have final figures within the next few days. Due to livestock feed shortages a large amount of feed crops, including oats and hay, are expected to be planted this year.

Corn, wheat, soybeans and oats are usually the leading crops in the Marion area. Due to the unusually early season this year, and the dry weather conditions, many farmers are ahead of their usual work schedule.

Marion county farmers should not plant their 1946 corn crops before May 18, to avoid danger of cold soil and corn borer, according to a report from D. F. Beard, extension agronomist at Ohio State university.

Mr. Beard reported that although unusual weather conditions had permitted farmers to prepare the ground for planting, the seed should not be sown yet. The school's Ohio experiment station, he commented, has suggested these dates after years of field tests: May 12, Ross county latitude; May 15, Franklin county belt; May 18, across the state from Marion county; May 21, into the Seneca area, and May 24 in northwestern counties.

New Rule Announced for Navy Enlistment

Former members of the naval reserve, USN-I, and U. S. Navy, may now enlist in the regular Navy in rating held at discharge, regardless of elapsed time since discharge, providing their rating is open, CEM Floyd S. West of the naval recruiting service here has announced after receiving word of a recruiting policy change from the Navy department.

Formerly men separated from the naval service could enlist in the regular Navy only as seaman first class, firemen first class or hospital apprentices first class. The new policy has been announced as temporary and is subject to change without notice.

The Navy recruiting office here is located in the postoffice building and is open every day except Sunday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

TOO MUCH ICE CREAM COSTS OHIOANS $500

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 16—Two Utica, O., men were fined $500 each yesterday on pleas of guilty before U. S. District Judge Mell G. Underwood to charges of diverting too much cream from butter, dried milk and other urgent milk products to making ice cream.

The pair, whose acts violated the Second War Powers act in January, March, May and June of 1945, were Charles J. Dager and Abe Ritchey.

William Schwartz, a Columbus baker, was fined $300 on his plea of guilty to a charge of failing to enrich 83,500 pounds of bread between June 11 and Dec. 10, 1945, as required by the War Powers act.

Judge Underwood gave sentences totaling 15 years to Ronald Woods of Columbus when he pleaded guilty to five counts of thefts from mail boxes. Robert Ford of Columbus was given sentences totaling eight years on his guilty plea to four mail theft counts.

Judge Underwood deferred sentence, pending further investigation, on Pauline Frances Smith of Lancaster, who pleaded guilty to stealing and indorsing a $100 discharge check from an ex-service man.

David Strohl pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a stolen car from Fremont, Neb., to Chillicothe, O., and received a two-year sentence.

Strike De Luxe

THERE is no reason why a strike of airplane pilots should be regarded as unusual. The pilots have a union, work for money and want more, just like almost everyone else in these up-and-coming times.

But the decision of organized pilots to strike against T. W. A., first important move to tie up aerial transportation, will be regarded as something unusual, as something more than another strike. There are two reasons.

One is the fact that first-class pilots are hardly in the proletarian league; their salaries may go above $10,000. The other is the fact that airplane pilots as an occupational group are set apart from the ordinary run of mortals. They are classed with circus aerialists, magicians, and movie stars. Frankly, it is going to be a shock to some of the ground-bound yokels to realize that pilots fly for money.

Everybody has the right to strike, and nearly everybody exercises it. One union is just as good as another. It is only a matter of a few formalities and a couple of deadlocks until the Association of Everybody With An Income Of Over $100,000 A Year walks out, to stay out until its members are guaranteed $118,500 plus disability allowances for nervous breakdowns.

Did Henry Know?

DOUBT arises as to whether the Democratic party is cleaning the house or wrecking it. The secretary of commerce is giving the political elbow to Jeffersonians and at the other extreme of the coalition the attorney general is giving the elbow to Marxists.

Even though Mr. Wallace carries vastly more political weight than Mr. Clark, the fact that the latter has called on the Political Action Committee to disown any "radical and un-American elements" in its ranks is tremendously significant.

As attorney general, Mr. Clark is the cabinet member responsible for the FBI and also for legal action against unfriendly aliens. When he asserts that "we are either American or un-American," he comes close to reversing a dictum of long standing among certain elements of Washington's inner circle since 1933, who seemed to believe that being just an American was un-American in itself.

Furthermore, Mr. Clark was not making these remarks in a vacuum, but to representatives of the P. A. C., whose critics "have grown into the habit of accusing you of harboring radical and un-American elements." Without saying whether he agreed with the critics or not, Mr. Clark advised the P. A. C. to disown "radical and un-American elements" so it can come to the court of public opinion with clean hands.

If Mr. Wallace did not know Mr. Clark was going to make these remarks, this week's cabinet meeting should be lively. The P. A. C. is Henry's specialty.

First, Lift the Calf

INTEREST IN proposals to outlaw atomic weapons everywhere on earth, in line with the plan proposed by the state department, is curbed by misgivings about enforcement.

In a perfect society there would be no misuse of any lethal weapon. In fact, existing local, state and national laws make it theoretically impossible for lethal weapons to be misused now; they have been outlawed.

The laws against misuse of the weapons are never broken by those who respect them, but only by those who take advantage of the relative helplessness of the unarmed to coerce them by intimidation and the threat of injury.

This is a fact well known to millions of Americans, citizens of the nation which would give up what it has for the promises of other nations never to take advantage thereafter of its good will. It accounts for American skepticism about all proposals to lift the threat of atomic destruction by having the United States turn over what it knows to other nations and to take no further advantage of its special knowledge.

It is too much like trying to lift a full-grown cow without limbering up first by lifting a calf. There seems never to have been an instance in history when men or nations actually succeeded in renouncing a powerful weapon, except as forced to do so by fear of retaliation, as in the case of poison gas in World War II.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Truman Goes About Unification in Proper Way.

WASHINGTON, April 16—Mr. Truman made the proper move to get the Army-Navy unification bill through congress. The Navy had performed an almost lobbying job against the program. It was in charge of Navy Assistant Secretary H. Struve Hensel, who worked through the Navy league promoting speeches and articles by admirals, and arousing naval affairs committeemen in both houses. If Mr. Truman succeeds in stopping Navy agitation, he will get his bill through because there is no other opposition, except that which may be continued by the naval committeemen who fear they may lose their seniority standing in their committee jobs. But the bill is not on the program for this session. The calendar of both houses is already crowded for the next several months, and the leaders are planning a summer recess to let the legislators go home and mend their broken fences in preparation for their reelection campaigns.

The Navy never had much of a case. No one can oppose unification as a theory. Appalling duplications of Army and Navy services filled the committee records of hearings. Army and Navy competed with each other in bidding for such things as clothing, for example. In that line, one service might have a surplus of some items while the other had a deficiency.

Compete Against Each Other

In negotiating their separate contracts, they were actively competing against each other. Then again on small islands like Guam, there would be a naval hospital constructed and maintained a mile away from an Army hospital. It was known also that in armament the Navy and Army encountered needless conflict. Furthermore, the building of separate airports around the world caused duplication waste in many instances.

In the face of such overwhelming evidence, the Navy centered its campaign largely upon delaying action by congress. Its basic fear and claim was that the Navy was to be put under the Army by unification—which simply is not true. The Thomas subcommittee has reported now a bill which proposes to set up the unification this way: a single secretary of common defense in the cabinet, with three secretaries under him, one each for Army, Air and Navy; then an over-all chief of staff (with a recommendation that the President rotate this office between the three services, giving it to Army for a year, then to Air and then to Navy), three assistant secretaries representing each branch of the service, and finally legalization of the joint chiefs of staff set up during the war to provide cooperation in strategy between the services.

Units Independent

This setup preserves the Navy as just as much an independent unit as the Army or the Air Forces. It does not put the Navy under the Army. But it is true the Army, numerically, is stronger, and may wield a greater influence in the combined department than the admirals or air arm, despite the legal equality of each branch.

Delay in enacting the program until next year will greatly impede efficiency in national defense. Even if the legislation could be enacted today, at least a year or more would be required to work out and effect the vast details of reorganization. For that period at least the efficency of the services would be impeded. Quite obviously it would be wise to get the legislation enacted immediately in order that its beneficial facts can become operative at the earliest possible time. There is really no excuse for delay. But congress always moves slowly. Mr. Truman will have to use the same whip on his leaders that he employed on the Navy, if he is to get early action on a program which is practically unopposed.

Women's Money Goes To Their Heads

American women bought $165,000,000 worth of hats last year.

Moreover, this presumbly does not include the numerous items—animal, vegetable and mineral—which were fashioned into reasonable facsimilies.

Why, Carmen Miranda's banana bill alone must run into additional thousands.

A hundred and sixty-five million dollars for hats? It's the millinery, not military, influence which threatens us.

A hundred and sixty-five million dollars for hats? And nary a one that would keep your ears warm.

A hundred and sixty-five million dollars for hats? That's a lot for overhead, especially when you consider what they get for their money.

Incidentally, what ever happened to the little woman who used to make them over?

COULD BE

One Secretary or Three

By RAYMOND MOLEY

THE reiteration by President Truman of his support of a single department of defense is preventing the continuation of a fair debate on the subject between Army and Navy leaders. Navy people can hardly afford to express their honest opinion of now wrong-headed the arguments of the Commander-in-Chief really are. But no gag can be imposed on members of Congress or the press, and there will be plenty of debate before the Thomas Bill gets through Congress.

The revamped legislation positively does not combine the Army and Navy plans. What it does is to set up the basic Army plan and then decorate the branches with a few trimmings from the Navy plan. The essential fallacy remains.

Fallacy

That fallacy is that a single Secretary can be found by any president, sufficiently experienced, fair-minded and energetic to head such a unified defense department and to represent in the Cabinet the interests and point of view of the three services—Army, Navy and Air. No such paragon has served in any Cabinet in recent times, perhaps at any time.

Consider, for example, any or all the War and Navy secretaries since Lincoln. In many cases, the person chosen had some familiarity with or sympathy for the service he headed. This certainly was true of Knox and Stimson in this war. In other cases, as with Newton D. Baker and Elihu Root, men without service background were selected. But in such cases the evidence is that their energies were fully occupied in learning the problems of their department and that they needed plenty of time to become effective in solving those problems. The present plan of unification would require a secretary of defense to learn three times as much as Newton D. Baker or Elihu Root had to learn.

Under the new plan, any interest or experience in one of the services would be not a qualification but a disqualification. The President would be moved to select a neutral person—that is, one who knew nothing of either service. That would be the President's test of the probable fairness and balance of his appointee.

Work for Cabinet

It is silly to argue that a cabinet member need not learn the details of his department. Those who have seen the inside of a new administration getting under way can testify how rapidly and how deeply a new cabinet member must dig into his department in order properly to represent it. He cannot delegate this job of exploration to others. He and he alone must know enough to decide hundreds of issues among his subordinates. He must make his decisions as an administrator, not as a judge, which is an important distinction.

The Truman plan assumes that a colossus can be found who can master the equivalent of three departments in the time formerly required to master one. And in the future, the three departments—Navy, Army and Air—will be many times larger than before the late war. If we may judge from Mr. Truman's past appointments, he is no discoverer of such supermen.

The Truman proposal for a single chief of staff has another grave fault. Here no layman is involved, but a person from one of the services, with all the traditions, prejudices and instincts of a limited professional life as a soldier, sailor or airman. Here the difficulty would be not only lack of knowledge, but lack of judicial capacity.

The sweet word "unity" has covered many a sin in the past, but it has never faced such a contradiction as this.

An Antidote for Poison of Postwar Bickering

Army Ground Forces Reports on America's Escape from Defeat.

MILLIONS of Americans probably noted only casually the recent final report of Army Ground Forces when it was published, then turned to news of bickering at home and abroad.

Army Ground Forces is the name of the organization within the War Department that trained, equipped and maintained the nation's fighting force in World War II—not the specialists, or the troops behind the lines, but the men who met the enemy in hand-to-hand combat.

It is the name of the part of America's mobilized manpower which bore 81 per cent of the army's battle losses, the name of the military group in which there was no fighting man quite so important as the GI combat infantryman.

The infantry, comprising only 20.5 per cent of American strength overseas, bore 70 per cent of the total casualties.

Up to the surrender of Japan, Army Ground Forces had raised, trained and sent overseas 89 divisions plus essential supporting troops and maintained them at or near their combat strengths. Of the 89, only one division did not go into battle.

Casualties were terrific. With an authorized strength of 14,037, one division, the Third Infantry, had casualties of 33,547. Many had casualties greater than their authorized strength. The toll of men killed in action reached as high as 6,571 for the Third, 4,581 for the Fourth, 4,474 for the Ninth. Through August, 1945, casualty totals for divisions alone reached 827,869 (122,562 killed in action.)

Of 276 men granted the Congressional Medal of Honor, 239 were members of Army Ground Forces, almost all of them from the infantry. Of 3,700 Distinguished Service Crosses granted for heroism in the war, more than 80 per cent were given to members of the ground army. It was the fighting varsity of the United States. In a real sense, everything else was subordinate to its success.

THE final report of Army Ground Forces was submitted to the chief of staff over the signature of Gen. Jacob L. Devers. While its scope was narrower than the now famous report of Chief of Staff Gen. George C. Marshall issued after the end of the war last to fight," Gen. McNair himself year, it reveals even more about the actual accomplishments that made victory possible.

It is the story of a nation's transformation from less than a third-rate military power when World War II began, to first-rate status when the war ended—from 28 poorly-equipped, loosely-organized divisions (10 regular, 18 National Guard) to a 4,000,000-man force, the best fed, best clothed, best housed, best paid, best armed and, in the mass, the best trained army in history.

Axis success had made it plain by the spring of 1942 that the United States must move drastically to build an overseas fighting force capable of carrying the war to Germany and Japan. That was the inception of Army Ground Forces, which combined under one head the infantry, field artillery, cavalry, tank destroyers, armored force and coast artillery. In the laconic words of its commander at that time, Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, its purpose was "to create ground force units and train them so that they are fit to be killed abroad in line of duty."

THE rest of the story is familiar, though few comprehend the meaning of its details. They were details of inductions, replacement centers, training, cadres, aptitude tests, maneuvers, furloughs, visual education, indoctrination courses, lectures, overseas depots—the varied experience of millions of men during the war.

The detail most often missed and underestimated is that combat soldiers—the men trained to fight hand-to-hand—were the cream of the fighting crop, broadly speaking. In America's whole fighting force, they were the elite, the minority on which the decision would turn in the final decision.

The morning after Pearl Harbor, the men already in training knew exactly what they had to do and began to do it. What followed was one of the tightest races against time ever staged—America's race to recover the ground it had lost by unpreparedness.

The race was won. Already the accomplishment is being minimized by the press of postwar distractions, however. There are times when it seems plain from the attitude of Americans that some of us already must have forgotten the dead, the maimed and the heroic.

Would Honor Dog Veterans

BALTIMORE, Md. — Dogs of this city whose masters lent them to the service of the nation in war will be given the status of true veterans, if Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin has his way.

The mayor has outlined a proposal which would honor war dogs by providing exemption from licensing fees and issuance of a special permanent tag to dogs which had played a part in the national war effort.

A committee of the City Council had turned in an unfavorable report on the measure based on the difficulties of investigating the dogs' records, but the report was considered only a temporary setback in the mayor's plan. The mayor had already authorized preparation of citations with blank spaces in which to insert the names of the dogs to be honored.

Tuesday Bridge Club Played

MEMBERS of the Ladies Tuesday Bridge [illegible] Independence, Kansas, came to W[illegible] as Miss Bess Truman's guest at the H[illegible]—News Item.

Mrs. Truman—Gosh, it's so good to see [illegible]. Your head, Sally.

Mrs. Mike Peters—Tell us, Bess, how do [illegible] like it here, and remember you can say anything you want to me.

Mrs. Truman—I wouldn't dare say it to anybody else, but it's pretty awful. I sometimes wish Harry I were Roose elt and packed Wallace.

Mrs. Oscar E. King—I'll bet you would swap a corner of Independence for the whole city of Washington, Bess.

Mrs. Truman—And they could throw in Baltimore. What's trumps?

* * *

Mrs. Lee Shaw—Where's Harry? I bet he seem um around.

Mrs. Truman—Oh he's out of town for the day.

Mrs. J. C. Noe—Goodness, is he that afraid of us?

Mrs. Truman—Oh, you know how men are when the women have a bridge party.

Mrs. Peters—Has the job changed him, Bess? What's ahead?

Mrs. Truman—Oh, it worries him a lot and a lot of ways he's different. Trumping so often.

Mrs. Peters—He looks awfully happy in the pictures? Always smiling.

Mrs. Truman—Yes, but he's not that around the house. Know when Harry and I were happiest, girls? When he had that hat store.

Mrs. Tom Tarpman—No global worries those days, eh, Bess?

Mrs. Truman—Oh, for the good old days when his only problem was what color band to put around on a straw hat instead of whether bombs B-bust. Ain't!

Mrs. Shaw—There's a lot of difference. Between arguing with a customer over a hat and arguing with Joe Stalin over Persia.

Mrs. Truman—My dear, you never spoke truer word. Your play again, Jennie.

Mrs. King—I suppose you have to do a lot entertaining at all hours, Bess.

Mrs. Truman—You don't know the half of it. If I could only do it the Kansas way it would be so bad. But here it's all fuss and feathers. You know how Harry and I really hate airs and rags. Who played the diamond.

Mrs. Shaw—It's such a big place, the White house. Don't you ever feel lost?

Mrs. Truman—Most of the time. Remember how Harry would come home late just as the bridge party was ending and sneak into the big kitchen for a snack? We were two mice finding the kitchen here and it's a days walk to it from this room.

Mrs. Shaw—Say, Bess, you can let down your hair with us. He talks so boldly to Russia and England and Argentine and all those places, he like that around home?

Mrs. Truman—Well, you know me; what do YOU think?

A man arose at an annual meeting of Western Union the other day and made a bitter attack on the officers as incompetent. A "swinging telegram, as it were.

Gromyko has been replaced as Russian ambassador and made a full-time delegate to the U. This represents complete Kremlin support of the man that walks like a barrier.

President Truman has just received free passes to ball games in both big leagues. Now it seems more certain than ever that the Big Three meetings will have to wait until next year.

The President it develops, is a south paw who throws a slow ball with a bulge.

The Yale-Harvard boat race is to take place this year for the first time since Pearl Harbor. Many war veterans are now at Yale and they have a swell idea for a movie drama. A hero who spent three years in PT boats in the Java Sea and also made amphibious landings on Tarawa is admitted to Yale, makes the crew and becomes its stroke oar, strokes the crew to victory in a four-mile race on the smooth Thames on a sunny June afternoon and GETS HIS PICTURE IN THE PAPER AS THE HERO OF THE DAY!"

The Whiffinpoofits

By TRUMAN TWILL

The "girls" finally caught up with Harry and Bess, and there is something to talk about in Independence. This is the way it was, and exaggeration!

Bess invited the girls to the White House a high time too, considering she had been there whole year without having them over. Goodness knows Bess had never been left out of anything, even when Harry had that bad luck in clothing business. But of course she's been busy with that big house to take care of, and naturally wanted to take things slow at first while she learned the ropes. But no matter—

Everybody had a perfectly lovely time, and some of the funniest things happened. You should have heard what Lucy said to the Secret Service man at the front door. Now Lucy stoos Lucy, you know, she just speaks right out. And everybody was real nice, though it's hard Bess is a mite lonely in Washington. It's a hard place to get acquainted in, she says, but that she minds it, but it's a lot different from Independence.

The house is lovely, even if you never get over the feeling it's a museum. Bess and Harry both talked about that and said it gives them the willies. Of course Harry is busy, but he hopes time to drop in and talk just like the old days back home when Bess never dreamed she'd be having club in the White House some day. There's a funny thing about that.

While the club never had any name, the girls and their husbands always called it the Whiffinpoofits, one of those silly names that does not mean anything. You can imagine how funny it was to see a sign reading: Welcome to the Whiffinpoofits—Harry and Bess. Not so funny, but lump-in-throat funny. They had one of the White House men make it and put it on an easel in the upstairs hall. The girls were touched. It proved what everybody at home had been saying, that Harry and Bess hadn't changed.

And the press conference that everybody was so about—that was Harry's idea. Wouldn't you know he'd think of something like that, wanting all those newspaper people to meet his friends? Bess didn't know whether it was a good idea, but said to go ahead if everybody thought it would be fun. After all, she said, it was why she had invited the girls to come, to have fun, and keep Harry and her from getting out of touch with their old friends and the times all of them used to have.

The funny thing was that nobody ever played any bridge, but it wasn't the first time. Maybe the day when a hand was dealt and the girls got to talking about something and forgot all about bridge. But everybody had such a good time Harry and Bess insisted it should happen again real soon. Of course it would be Lucy who suggest a covered-dish supper some night in the Oval Room That Lucy!

Everybody had a wonderful time . . . think of the Whiffinpoofits having bridge club in the White House! It couldn't happen anywhere else in the world. Poor Harry and Bess.

JEWISH PEOPLE OPEN PASSOVER OBSERVANCE

Festival of Freedom Marked by Rites in Homes.

Observance of the Jewish Passover, the Festival of Freedom of the Jewish religion which is marked each year for eight days in the spring season, opened last night. Members of the Marion Congregation of Israel, with those of other Jewish congregations throughout the world, are keeping the festival in special rites in their homes.

An explanation of the Passover by the Commission on Information About Judaism of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations and the Central Conference of American Rabbis, is as follows:

"Passover celebration begins each year with a Seder service and lasts seven days among Reform Jews and eight days among the Conservative and Orthodox Jews. The Seder service, which ushers in the Passover, is the last supper which the Jewish people ate before leaving Egypt on their exodus from slavery. Originally the Seder supper consisted of the Paschal lamb. A quaint and beautiful ritual, the Haggadah, celebrating the ideal of freedom for all men is read on this night and the second night of the feast.

"Passover is one of the three so-called Pilgrim Festivals which every Jewish family, if at all possible, was supposed to celebrate in ancient days at Jerusalem. Unleavened bread or matso is eaten during the entire festival.

"The great idea which if affirmed again and again during this celebration is the fact that Israel was not alone redeemed from Egypt but that sooner or later all mankind will be redeemed from slavery, from ignorance, superstition, hatred, oppression and strife. Centuries ago, the Jewish fathers knew that unless there was freedom, well-being, and peace for all, there could be neither freedom, well-being, nor peace for any one."

PRICES ARE HIGH . . .
LABOR IS SCARCE . . .
BUILDING MATERIALS RESTRICTED . . .

Why Vote "FOR" the School Bonds NOW?

That's a good question. It's true that building prices are too high now, that skilled labor is scarce and that building restrictions limit material, also no one wants to interfere with the housing program for veterans and others needing a place to live.

BUT, If You Think We Need New and Improved School Buildings, We Ought to Vote the Money NOW, Because:

1. It will take a long time to get plans and specifications made and we can't start until we have authorized the money.
2. We can fix up some of our elementary schools soon without harming the veteran's building program.
3. The money we vote won't eat anything. We'll pay about 1% interest and the unused portion can be invested in safe, interest bearing negotiable securities—(No one knows how long 1% money will be available).
4. We'll be ready to start building as soon as conditions become right.
5. We could consider accepting a government public building grant if such is offered.
6. Should jobs become scarce, this program will furnish several hundreds of thousands of man hours of well paid labor at a time when work is needed most.

WE HAVE EVERYTHING TO GAIN and NOTHING TO LOSE BY VOTING THE MONEY NOW!

Jap Premier States He'll Stay in Office

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, April 16 — Premier Shidehara said today he feels it is his duty to Japan to stay on the job and that he might break a life-long precedent by "making connections with" existing political parties to keep his cabinet in office.

The 73-year-old baron was asked at a press conference whether any suggestion from General MacArthur had persuaded him to retain office since Wednesday's general election. "Absolutely not," he declared.

He firmly refuted a Japanese reporter's sharp challenge that public opinion demanded that he step down "and abide by the outcome" of the nation's first democratic election.

MANCHURIA

caused by poor communications—from Manchuria today.

However, Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Davis radioed from Mukden that the situation in embattled Changchun, the Manchurian capital, was so tense that a neutral plane probably would be sent there to remove five American correspondents — one a woman.

Latest news from Changchun said communists, attacking from three directions, had captured Changchun's three airfields.

Reds Reported in City

The official Chinese Central News agency, in a Changchun dispatch reported belatedly today that Communist troops had entered the capital city yesterday after one night of continuous attacks. There were no details. The Communists were reported to have 30,000 to 40,000 troops around Changchun, the government only 4,000.

A government military spokesman reported dispatches from Changchun up to last midnight indicated that the slim government garrison still clung to at least a portion of the city.

(This indicated that the Communists, after overcoming light defenses on the edge of the city might have fought up to the sandbags and slit trenches in the main part of the capital.)

The spokesman said the Changchun garrison numbered no more than 1,000 troops.

Fight 10 Hours

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Masterson, one of the five American correspondents in the Manchurian capital, yesterday said the Communists had been attacking 10 hours when his dispatch was filed.

The formal entry of the government's new First Army into Szepingkai, important railroad junction 90 miles southeast of Changchun, was announced in Mukden by the northeast China command.

Lt. Gen. Chao Chia Hsiang, deputy commander of the northeast China command, said in Mukden that the First Army would push on toward Changchun as rapidly as possible. There was every expectation that the Communists would delay the advance all possible.

There was no radio or telegraphic communication with Changchun from Mukden, Davis reported.

TIRE PRODUCTION HIT BY AKRON SLOWDOWN

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., April 16—Passenger tire production was halted today at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. as CIO rubber workers protested the transfer of some employes to a different department, a company spokesman said.

There was no report immediately on the number of workers affected, but the company declared the stoppage began as a slowdown late yesterday and that work gradually ceased.

Idleness occurred in the bag preparation and curing room where air bags are placed into tires before the curing process, the company reported.

Goodyear said the slowdown followed transfer of some workers from the curing room to another department, leaving a smaller number of men to handle the same amount of work. The transfer, Goodyear added, was in connection with the eliminination of a temporary operation which regular operators previously had performed.

C. V. Wheeler, president of Goodyear local 2 of the CIO United Rubber Workers, and other union officials could not be reached at once for comment.

Tire production at the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. also was threatened by a sitdown strike of 60 curing room workers.

A Firestone spokesman said all operations would be halted by nightfall if the sitdown continued. The spokesman said the dispute involved refusal of the workers to operate eleven heater curing units with seven men. Previously six men had operated six units with one idle, he explained.

Official of Firestone local 7 of the CIO-United Rubber Workers were not available for comment.

WAR VETS AND CIO QUIET BUTTE MOBS

By The Associated Press

BUTTE, Mont., April 16 — This strike-bound copper capital of 40,000 began relaxing today from three days and nights of vandalism as Sheriff Al McLeod credited volunteer war veterans and members of the striking CIO miners' union with helping ease the tension.

As police and sheriff's officers last night waited for telephone callers to carry out threats against more homes of non-strikers, representatives of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (CIO) patrolled Butte pleading with crowds to keep order.

McLeod said groups of girls, boys and women broke up without trouble and he added:

"We don't expect any more trouble, and we won't need outside help."

Several groups of women and children threatened by anonymous telephone calls, were moved from their homes for protection last night.

The crowds gathered at homes of Anaconda Copper Mining Co. employes who remained on jobs as maintenance workers after the CIO miners went out last Tuesday in a dispute over retroactivity of a pay raise offered by the company.

From the start of disorders, the union officially has condemned the hoodlumism and house wrecking.

Says Germans Brought Religious Freedom

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, April 16—Nazi ideologist Alfred Rosenberg told the international military tribunal today the German Wehrmacht had "reinstated religious freedom" in the conquered areas of the Soviet union.

"I put that freedom on a legal basis through my edict as reich minister for the occupied European territories toward the end of 1941," he testified.

Brushing aside charges that he actively persecuted religion, Rosenberg asserted the National Socialist state had given more than 7,000,000 marks to churches and that its laws compared favorably with those in France and Russia.

State Censors Ban Movie "Mom and Dad"

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 16 — The state division of film censorship, after another review, has declined to re-license the motion picture, "Mom and Dad" for exhibition in Ohio.

The division revoked the exhibitors' license March 26 on the ground the film was too sexy and highly unsuitable for showing to the general public.

before the council again on Russia's insistence.

At the outset of today's meeting at least seven of the 11 council members were lined up against Russia's move to drop the Iranian case.

In a round of sharply-worded speeches yesterday, Poland and France were the only nations to give Russia any measure of support.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko wound up his case before the council last night by declaring U. S. Delegate Edward R. Stettinius Jr. and Britain's Sir Alexander Cadogan had confirmed his doubt that their countries have a real and genuine desire to see a peaceful solution of the differences between the Soviet Union and Iran."

Stettinius and Cadogan disclaimed only that their governments were attempting to forestall a peaceful settlement.

Dr. Quo Tai-chi of China, council chairman, attempted to adjourn the meeting immediately after Gromyko's outburst.

Stettinius, asking for thirty seconds' time before adjournment said he had made no proposal and added "I have merely attempted to explain to the council the reasons why it was impossible for the United States government to support a request that was before the council, put by the Soviet delegation."

Cadogan declared the British wanted to settle the Iranian question and thought they had found the solution in the council's resolution of April 4 to keep the issue tabled for reconsideration May 6.

The American position for retaining the Russian-Iranian case remained unchanged after Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala handed in a letter from his government yesterday withdrawing Iran's complaint against Russia but making no recommendation concerning the council's further interest in the issue.

Basis of Stand

The council majority, led by Stettinius and Cadogan held to the thesis that the basis of the complaint remained "Soviet troops continued in Iran after the expiration of the treaty calling for their evacuation by last March 2 and they are there over protest. Iran lodged with the council in London last January.

The majority leadership made clear that the Iranian issue would be dropped before May 6 only if it is assured that all Soviet troops have left Iran.

Madrid Says Reds Ready To Invade Spain via France

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 16—The Madrid radio expressed fear that Russia was planning to invade Spain as the Franco government awaited replies today from five "friendly" nations invited to send technicians to investigate charges that Spain is a threat to world peace.

These charges, together with an assertion that Spain was harboring German scientists, were made by Oscar Lange, the Polish delegate to the United Nations security council. The council is scheduled to take up the Spanish question as soon as it disposes of the Russian-Iranian dispute.

The Spanish foreign ministry announced last night it had extended the formal invitations to five council members which maintain "friendly relations" with the Franco government.

The countries are the United States, Britain, Egypt, the Netherlands and Brazil.

The Madrid radio said there was a secret agreement between France and Russia which might lead to a Soviet march through France and into Spain. The existence of any such agreement was promptly denied in Paris.

The broadcast said that "all indications" were that the Spanish republican government in exile was "preparing military intervention by means of frontier incidents" in the Pyrenees.

"Once such an incident has taken place," the Madrid radio continued, "Russian troops could come to the assistance of their allies by marching through France from the German and Austrian zones of occupation."

The Spanish foreign office denied Paris reports an atomic bomb laboratory was being operated at Portugalete, by German scientists. It termed the reports "totally and absolutely false."

Truman Signs Bill To Check Powers of Petrillo Union

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 16—President Truman signed today legislation making it a federal offense to use coercion against radio broadcasters.

Sponsors said the measure is designed to halt certain practices of the AFL music ians union headed by James C. Petrillo. It carries penalties of up to a year's imprisonment and $1,000 fine for compelling or attempting to compel broadcasters to:

1. Hire more employes than they want.

2. Pay money for services not performed.

3. Pay unions for the use of phonograph records.

4. Pay again for broadcasting a transcript of a previous program.

The same penalties could be invoked against persons interfering with broadcast of cultural or educational programs originating in foreign lands.

The legislation developed from an original attempt by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) to override a Petrillo ban against broadcast of a students music festival at Interlochen, Mich.

Petrillo contended the program took jobs from professional musicians.

ILLNESS HITS OHIOANS RESISTING EVICTION

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 16 — A wave of illness struck among tenants of two barren apartment buildings on Carnegie avenue today as 75 persons remained in their suites despite removal of furniture and, in some instances, cooking stoves.

Dr. Ferdinand Bradford, district physician for the city division of health, diagnosed the illness of five children as bronchitis. Three families were quarantined for scarlet fever, whooping cough and measles.

Bailiff Frank T. Kelly yesterday began moving furniture and stoves out of the furnished apartments in the two buildings under an eviction order against Arthur Cash, lessee, and Mrs. Jane Witham, who sub-leased the buildings from Cuyahoga Estates Co., a management concern supervising the apartments for a Massachusetts insurance company, owner.

Approximately 25 of 100 occupants of the two buildings were able to get lodging elsewhere, but others remained.

The management company said it was allowing the eviction order against Cash and Mrs. Witham to go forward because it was under orders from the health department to make the buildings ratproof, and that would require remodelling. The health order was issued after a tenant's child was bitten by a rat.

The apartments have been the subject of previous skirmishes, when water was shut off for nonpayment of bills, and sanitary officers swore out a warrant against Mrs. Witham for failure to keep the heat going.

Lindley, wife of a Washington newspaper man.

Mrs. Lindley estimated there were 1,500 women in the group who came to capitol hill yesterday to urge a year's extension of price controls. She said they had a three-block long petition with 1,000,000 signatures.

List of Amendments

Administration-opposed amendments on which house voting will start tomorrow, include:

1. To take farm products out of OPA's control.

2. To end the meat subsidy when the government now pays processors to keep down retail prices.

3. To require price ceilings high enough to assure a profit on every item of each manufacturer, rather than "fair and equitable" ceilings on an industry-wide basis.

The farm products amendment is in line with a movement launched by cotton state senators late yesterday. They agreed to appoint a subcommittee to recommend which farm items should be taken away from OPA.

'But we must have the consumers' help,' Stepphe told the meeting. 'They must submit to voluntary rationing on the part of the butcher and thus help achieve a fair distribution of what meat there is."

Most of those present said they would ration their supply to customers, and some reported they already had started such a policy. A small percentage said they planned to close one day a week if supplies continue scarce.

Meat Workers Strike To Protest Policies

By The Associated Press

OTTUMWA, Ia., April 16 — CIO employes of John Morrell & Co. meat packing plant, walked out today in what Ed Fillman, United Packinghouse Workers' steward, said was a "one day protest against layoffs in the beef department."

Fillman and other union leaders said "the men are taking a one day holiday as a demonstration against the general policy of the government controlled plants."

He said "there is plenty of beef, but they are not buying it in their attempt to kill the OPA."

Approximately 2,800 workers are involved.

G. M. Foster, Morrell president declared in a speech yesterday, black market operations have forced the company to lay off half its beef house employes and cut killing to a fifth of capacity.

The membership of the organization will determine how extensive the cooperative's program will be, officials say. The constitution calls for a membership of 100 dairymen, and provides for making butterfat content tests to determine which cows are profitable.

Akron Studies Toledo Income Tax Program

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., April 16—A powerful section of Akron's council today favored Toledo's income tax plan as a means of meeting 1,300 city workers' pay raise demands and paying for Akron's postwar program.

No income tax ordinances were introduced pending further studies of the financial situation locally and on the future of the Toledo plan.

Mayor Charles E. Slusser and his finance director, John D. Currie, warned, meanwhile, that Akron must raise new revenue by next fall or become "the only major city in the state that has refused to levy sufficient taxes to meet our debt obligation."
